

Synergy House (0279)

Uptrend Gaining Strength

Technical Highlights

The stock has shown an uptrend earlier this year, reaching a peak in June before entering a downward movement and a four-month consolidation period. Last Friday, it finally broke out of this consolidation zone and continued its climb with increased trading volume. Currently, the stock is trading above all three key EMAs, which are nearing a convergence—further supporting the upward momentum.

Momentum indicators support the stock's optimistic outlook. The RSI currently sits at 79, slightly overbought but reflects strong buying pressure. Additionally, the MACD is also rising, underscoring the strength of the current trend.

For an ideal entry, it may be wise to wait for a minor pullback that brings the RSI closer to 74, potentially offering an entry range of around RM1.21. The first resistance level to watch is RM1.34, and if breached, the stock may aim for RM1.45 as the next resistance. This previous support level may act as a resistance level. On the downside, if the stock drops below RM1.09, it could retreat toward the consolidation support at RM0.99.

Kossan Rubber (7153)

Breaking Out From Macro Downtrend

Technical Highlights

The stock recently broke out from a macro downtrend line that had previously served as resistance, turning the stock downward four times on contact. Yesterday, the stock successfully moved above this line, showing a clear breakout with rising buying volume. Just before this breakout, a small consolidation phase was formed within a rectangle-shaped box, with the stock now trading above all three key EMAs.

Momentum indicators are showing positive signals, with the RSI currently at 66 and MACD also formed a golden cross last week, further reinforcing the stock's strength.

In terms of strategy, an ideal entry range lies between RM2.17 and RM2.20. The first resistance level to watch is RM2.31, and if the stock surpasses this level, the next target will be RM2.54. On the downside, if the stock falls below RM2.03—previously the lower boundary of the consolidation box—this could signal a correction phase and warrant some caution.

Entry – RM2.17 – RM2.20
Stop Loss – RM2.03
Target Price – RM2.31 – RM2.54

Glossary of commonly used technical terms

Exponential Moving Average (EMA)	An indicator frequently used in technical analysis showing the average value of a security's price over a set period with greater weightage placed on the most recent data points.
Moving Average Convergence Divergence (MACD)	A trend-following momentum indicator that shows the relationship between two moving averages of prices. The MACD is calculated by subtracting the 26-day exponential moving average (EMA) from the 12-day EMA. A 9-day EMA of the MACD, called the "signal line", is then plotted on top of the MACD, functioning as a trigger for buy and sell signals.
Stochastic	A technical momentum indicator that compares a security's closing price to its price range over a given time period. The indicator's sensitivity to market movements can be reduced by adjusting the time period or by taking a moving average of the result.
Average True Range (ATR)	A measure of volatility whereby the indicator is the greatest of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- current high less the current low;- the absolute value of the current high less the previous close;- the absolute value of the current low less the previous close;
Bollinger Band	A band plotted 2 standard deviations away from a simple moving average.
On-Balance Volume (OBV)	A method used in technical analysis to detect momentum, the calculation of which relates volume to price change. OBV provides a running total of volume and shows whether this volume is flowing in or out of a given security.
Support	The price level which, historically, a stock has had difficulty falling below. It is thought of as the level at which a lot of buyers tend to enter the stock.
Resistance	The price at which a stock or market can trade, but not exceed, for a certain period of time. Often referred to as "resistance level".
Reversal	A change in the direction of a price trend. On a price chart, reversals undergo a recognizable change in the price structure. An uptrend, which is a series of higher highs and higher lows, reverses into a downtrend by changing to a series of lower highs and lower lows. A downtrend, which is a series of lower highs and lower lows, reverses into an uptrend by changing to a series of higher highs and higher lows.
Divergence	When the price of an asset and an indicator, index or other related asset move in opposite directions.
Overbought	In technical analysis, this term describes a situation in which the price of a security has risen to such a degree – usually on high volume – that an oscillator has reached its upper bound. This is generally interpreted as a sign that the price of the asset is becoming overvalued and may experience a pullback.
Oversold	A situation in technical analysis where the price of an asset has fallen to such a degree – usually on high volume – that the oscillator has reached a lower bound. This is generally interpreted as a sign that the price of the asset is becoming undervalued and may represent a buying opportunity for investors
